Weight Room Highlight #4

Doing the right things & doing things right is the theme of this week's highlight. In the weight room, like most anything else, there is a correct way to do things. Just showing up to the weight room is not enough. You should be on time for a good warmup. The warmup exercises as well as the lifts should be done with good form, good technique, and most importantly, done with maximum EFFORT, concentration, and a great attitude! Cooper Dreyer does all of those things! Not only that, he has set goals that push him. Goals are a huge motivator. Cooper has set school records now in 2 weight classes. As he grows bigger, he'll continue to grow stronger and stronger. By the time he graduates, I believe he'll put his name on the record boards at each weight class he grows into! Keep up the good work! and Keep Growing!

BRAELYN NELSON

"Braelyn has been working hard to improve her academics. She has also shown great improvement in her focus and listening skills, and is often looked to as an example to follow in line and in the hallway. She is kind and wants to make sure others feel included."

CORINNE HOPF

"Corinne always follows along with class and does a great job helping her classmates with understanding what we're going over. She always asks questions when she's confused or wants to know something. She is a very disciplined and committed student, exhibiting good manners and kindness."

Walk-in's Welcome!

It has been a busy ceramics time in the art room! The elementary have filled the drying rack, in preparation for Santa Lucia. It looks like a bakery display case. We just had our first kiln firing, and the high schoolers only had two parts of things crack, which is actually fantastic! I am really pleased with their clay construction skills. It will be great to see all these things with their final glaze! Stay tuned.
